“On-Line Basics of Fire Alarm for Non-Technicians” Registration Form

Getz Fire Equipment Co. is now offering Fire Alarm System training that is specifically curated to meet the needs of your in-office support personnel. Whether they are just getting started in the industry or are seasoned veterans, it’s important that everyone have a good general understanding of what a fire alarm system is, and how it works.

(3 Hour Instructor-Led Training – On-Line Via “Teams”) $125 Registration Fee

This training is not intended to be particularly technical. The technical training is reserved for system Designers and Field Technicians, and is available in a classroom setting, with hands-on training opportunities. What this on-line course does is walk participants through some basics of fire science, discusses the codes & standards that are used to regulate the fire alarm industry, describes how it is determined what fire alarm features are required and where, provides an overview of the types of systems that are available and the components that make them complete, and describes the qualifications that are necessary for various professions within the industry. It is a fantastic opportunity to get any questions you might have answered, if you’re new to fire alarm, or are perhaps thinking about entering the field.
